BACKGROUND

Dr. Vu Truong is a graduate of the UBC Urology Residency Program in 2005 and practices general adult and paediatric Urology in the Fraser Health Authority. He is based out of the Burnaby Hospital but also works at the Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster and the Eagle Ridge Hospital in Port Moody.

After finishing his training at UBC, Dr. Truong completed a Fellowship at the Alberta Urology Institute in Edmonton focusing on Laparoscopic Pelvic and Retroperitoneal Surgery

His areas of interest include Laparoscopic Nerve Sparing Radical Prostatectomy for Localized Prostate Cancer, Laparoscopic Radical and Partial Nephrectomy for Localized Renal Cell Carcinoma, and Laparoscopic Adrenalectomy for functional adenomas and pheochromocytomas

He and Dr. Omar Nazif work closely together and are developing a strong minimally invasive Urology program in the Fraser Health Authority, which is Canada's largest Health Authority.
